Hi Everyone, Just a couple of important items. I sent home a letter and 2 questionnaires for you to fill out about your child. We would like to develop some additional goals for your child and these questionnaires will help us find areas that need improvement. I know the questionnaires are long and they are specifically about school. The teachers are also filling out a questionnaire on each student, so we appreciate the time it will take to fill it out. I think the data is extremely valuable and thank you for your help.

Additionally, please take any opportunity to connect our school work with the world around us. For example, Kristi H pointed out last week that while we were reading the football book watching the Packer game was a great idea. Yesterday Tiger Woods won his first golf tournament after many years of not winning. Our students read about Tiger Woods in their golf book last week. This week we are reading about Baseball and the Brewers are in the middle of a race to be in the playoffs. I thank you for making these connections. We make them in school every day and your help reinforce what we are learning!

Thank you,

Rachel Lustig
